Proprietors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

THE DAILY BULLETIN will be delivered to any part of the city at 6 cents a week, or one year for $3.

THE DAILY BULLETIN to any postoffice in the United States, postage prepaid, at twenty-five cents per month or three dollars per year.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, DEC., 14, 1887.

A BILL has been introduced in the United States Senate providing for the employment of convict labor on public works. A bill was introduced by a Republican, too—Senator Hale.

The army of pension-seekers seems to be growing fast. There were twelve hundred applications filed with the Commissioner at Washington last Monday, the highest number ever received in one day.

SENATOR BUCK thinks postage on letters should not be higher than postage on merchandise. A bill will, therefore, be introduced by him to reduce the postage on all first-class mail to one cent an ounce.

Just about the time the poor speculator sees a chance to get even, his favorite bucket-shop closes its doors.—Louisville Commercial.

Yes, that's about the way it ends. But most speculators never know when they have got enough. They go and hunt up another bucket-shop.

BLAINE's actions and utterances stamp him a demagogue. He continues prating about "protection to home industries" and his great love for American enterprises, and yet in the face of this he has provided himself with a large supply of Scotch tweeds during his present trip through Europe.

The Winchester Democrat has been leased to Haggard & Benton, lawyers, for one year, with privilege of purchasing at end of lease. Its owner, M. C. Lisle, was forced to give up newspaper business by failing health. Mr. Lisle has made the Democrat one of the best papers in Central Kentucky.

RANDALL is said to be engaged on a compromise tariff measure that will effect a reduction of $60,000,000 of the revenue. This is to be divided equally between tariff and internal revenue. Cleveland, Carlisle and Randall, the three great leaders of their party, no doubt, are working together in this matter.

Professional Etiquette

prevents some doctors from advertising their skill, but we are bound by no such conventional rules and think that if we make a discovery that is of benefit to our fellows, we ought to spread the fact to the whole land. Therefore we cause to be published throughout the land the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the best known remedy for consumption (scrofula of the lungs) and kidney diseases. Send 10 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on consumption, with unsurpassed means of self-treatment. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Amador-Lilla Mine.

The Amador Mine in Poudrekeepsie Gulch, Ouray, Colorado, was purchased by the Amador-Lilla Mining Company, of East St. Louis, Ill., last week, and one of the best properties in that section has again fallen into St. Louis hands. The Amador has been worked continuously for two years by the vendors and has shown pay ore (bismuth silver) of very high grade from the very surface, a shipment made at only 50 feet from the surface running 154 ounces to the ton. The workings now in the lower level, 320 feet long and at a depth of about 200 feet, show a fine streak of ore about one foot in width, averaging 206 ounces in silver, and by concentration tests by jiggling, shows a value of at least 400 ounces to the ton of concentrates of two tons into one. A good jig hand will jig five tons a day and the capacity of the crusher and rolls run by water power at the mine will be fifty tons a day of ore crushed and ready for the jigs. It is proposed to jig all the ore and avoid thus the expense of hand sorting. The tests just made of the ore in the upper workings give return of 182½ ounces of silver per ton of the first class and 88½ ounces of the second class ore, or a value in concentrates of 354 ounces of the second going four tons into one and 363 ounces of the first class going two tons into one—these results obtained from jig tests made before the machinery was placed on the mine. It is estimated that ten tons a day will be treated at the mine to commence with as soon as the machinery is running. The Lilla veins intersecting the Amador in her present workings show magnificent bismuth silver ore at her crossing in the Amador No. 1 level and is the extension of the famous Saxon vein from the surface workings of which $65,000 was extracted at a depth in all of less than 100 feet. The Saxon is under lease and bond to the vendors of the "Amador." The Lilla vein is now being opened from the Amador level No. 2 at a depth of 123 feet. None of the ore reserves have been touched in "The Amador," but the ground is ready for stopping in both levels.

It is proposed to purchase the "Silver Star" the extension northwesterly of "The Amador" vein and incorporate the property with "The Amador-Lilla," making as fine a group of claims as can be found in the country.—Ouray (Col.) Solid Muldoon.

THE NEW ROAD

Huntington Says it Must be Finished as Far Down as Augusta This Winter.

Mr. H. E. Huntington, General Manager of the Kentucky Central and Superintendent of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroads, arrived here yesterday by special train, and after a short stay passed up over the new road to Concord to inspect the track that has been completed.

While here he informed a party that it was now the intention of the company to have the road completed as far down as Augusta this winter. Track-laying will soon be finished between Maysville and Ashland, and the hands will then be transferred to the route below this city. The stone work between Maysville and Augusta is all completed except at Lawrence Creek, and that can be finished by the time the track is laid to that point. The grading also is all completed with the exception of a few gaps, and a party interested in the road says there is no good reason why the construction trains should not be running to Augusta before next spring, if the weather is at all favorable.

BIG BLAZE AT CARLISLE.

Rogers' & Bostains Flour Mills Burned—Damage $15,000, Insurance $5,000.

Carlisle has met with another heavy loss from fire.

The large flour mill belonging to Rogers & Bostain at that place was discovered in flames at 3 o'clock this morning. The alarm was given at once, but the building was doomed, and the citizens could do but little to check the blaze. The mill burned to the ground. The contents consisting of two thousand bushels of wheat and two hundred and fifty barrels of flour were also destroyed.

The damage amounts to about $15,000. There was but $5,000 insurance, and the loss is a heavy one to the owners.

The safe and books were gotten out and saved. The engine was damaged, but the insurance on same will cover the loss.

No other damage except to telegraph lines, which were burned in two.

The conclusion arrived at will be watched for with eager interest. The result will be reported to the Northern and Southern Churches at their annual meeting next May.

Begin the New Year With Wooing Fortune.

In the city of New Orleans, La., on Tuesday, (always Tuesday) November 8th, 1887, the 210th grand monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery took place. As is the constant custom it was under the sole supervision of Generals G. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal A. Early, of Virginia. HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

THE ONE SUBJECT IN THE NEXT BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Lord Mayor Sullivan and Mr. O'Brien's Cases Will Be the Theme For Half the Speeches During the Next Session—New French Cabinet—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Although the opening of the next session of parliament is not sufficiently close at hand to be reckoned among the events of the near future there is still a great deal of activity observable among the parties on either side of the line drawn by the question of Home Rule for Ireland in the matter of preparation for the renewal of hostilities. Representatives of both parties are making frequent quiet trips to Ireland for the purpose of obtaining information that will stand the test of parliamentary discussion as to the exact condition of affairs with regard to the working of the crimes act, and the next four or five weeks will probably witness a still greater number of such excursions.

The cases of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Mr. O'Brien will undoubtedly furnish material for half the speeches that will be delivered during the consideration of whatever Irish business may come up next session, and as the gentlemen themselves will be in their seats, provided they are not again arrested and locked up for some new offense, they will presumably be astonished to hear how disreputable, rudely and altogether vicious they are regarded by the one portion of their colleagues and how highly they are esteemed as self-sacrificing patriots and pure minded men by the other.

While the government is engaged in prosecuting, and, in some instances, persecuting Irish members of the house of commons, it is noteworthy that evictions are heard of.
It is not because there are no evictions, for the work of the process server and the bailiff goes on almost unceasingly, but because the embarrassments, hardships and painful experiences of the humble peasant follower are lost sight of in the outcry that is raised against the humiliation and discomfort visited upon the leader. There is another reason, too, which is the fact that the evicted tenant offers slight, if any, resistance to his ejectors in the absence of the stirring words of one in whom he rests implicit confidence, encouraging him to defy and exert every effort to thwart his oppressors.

The experience of the home rule leaders already in jail and the fact that warrants have been issued for a large number of others, has had a strong deterrent effect upon many of the local heads of the league, who formally attended scenes of evictions and labored assiduously to encourage the tenants, while placing every possible obstacle in the way of the bailiffs and the police. Their opinions as to the justice or injustice of the proceedings have undergone no change, but they have lately developed an enormous amount of discretion, in contemplating the project of yawning jails and enforced hard labor for the crown, which has robbed the evictions of their most exciting features.
When the true leaders return to their work, and they most certainly will, they will find their old assistants ready to resume their obstructive practices, but until that time the voice of the local leader will be stifled and his hand, so oft uplifted to strike down a bailiff, inert.

Michael Davitt interviewed.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Warrants are out for the arrest of Messrs. T. Healy, M. P.; John Dillon, M. P., and T. P. Gill, M. P. The latter has been in charge of United Ireland during Mr. O'Brien's imprisonment. Mr.
Gill has escaped and will remain under cover until Mr. O'Brien has finished his term, which expires on Christmas Eve.

Michael Davitt, who has been in London for the last few days, during the course of an interview with a reporter last night, remarked, in answer to the question as to whether he expected to be arrested, that he fully expects to spend his Christmas in the cell of some Irish jail, and believes that John Dillon and Timothy Healy would probably share the same fate. The fight would, however, despite this, be carried on vigorously by the people, even if the prisons were crowded with the leaders of the movement.

"Are the people of Ireland at all depressed at the present aspect of affairs?"
"Well," replied Mr. Davitt, "the country is fully aware of the gravity of the situation, and of the ordeal through which it will have to pass. But it is not at all afraid.
The nation has passed through periods when the outlook was never darker and less hopeful, and it believes that it has reached the beginning of the end of one of the most sad and prolonged struggles for liberty passed through by any country in Europe.
Lord Salisbury and his government have evidently resolved, as far as possible, to employ all the resources of despotism and to crush the nation; but they seem to overlook the fact that they are dealing with a race which has never yet known when it was beaten."

In answer to questions with regard to the dispute with the Gaelic Athletic association, he said that he believed the matter had been amicably settled. The archbishop of Cashel, Dr. Crake, and himself had done their utmost to bring about this satisfactory result, and he was happy to say with complete success. People were fully alive to the importance of maintaining an unbroken front and of avoiding anything in the nature of disunion; and although there were some who might disapprove of certain details of policy, they agreed that the present juncture was not an opportune time for the opening of controversies or for the raising of difficulties. They were therefore at present maintaining an attitude of firmness and patience, firmly believing that such matters would be certain to be righted by and by.

"You expressed your disapproval of the policy of avoiding arrest under the coercion act in your most recent speech," said the correspondent.

"Yes," said Mr. Davitt, "it was with very great regret that I felt compelled to express my disapproval of a policy which I believed would be misunderstood out of Ireland. I felt it to be my public duty, after the thing had gone a certain length, to state so publicly in a speech at Stepaside, and that opinion I still hold, and nothing which has been since written or spoken on the subject has altered my views on the matter. If the Tory government desire to fill the Irish prisons, they, of course, can do so. That policy has been tried before without avail, and will be found to be equally fruitless now."
